

Figure 1: Time series of methanol (green curve), formic acid (blue curve) and carbon monoxide (black curve) monthly mean total columns for three different areas associated with biomass burning (Brazil, Congo and SE Asia). Carbon monoxide total columns were divided by 100 for comparison. The left scale and gray curves correspond to the sum of the AATSR fire counts for each months.