

Interactive comment on “Comparison of mercury concentrations measured at several sites in the Southern Hemisphere” by F. Slemr et al.

F. Slemr et al.

franz.slemr@mpic.de

Received and published: 7 February 2015

The measurement uncertainties are discussed in detail in our paper. As pointed out in the paper, the differences between the sites are within these uncertainties and thus we cannot declare them for real ones. A speculation about their potential meaning might be tempting but would be irresponsible without further QA/QC work.

Interactive comment on Atmos. Chem. Phys. Discuss., 14, 30611, 2014.

C12014