

Interactive comment on “Discriminating raining from non-raining clouds at mid-latitudes using multispectral satellite data” by T. Nauss and A. A. Kokhanovsky

W. Asher (Editor)

asher@apl.washington.edu

Received and published: 7 July 2006

This is a very interesting exposition of a new method for detecting precipitating clouds. Because all three reviewers mention the same issue, the lack of details on the statistical validation, I want to make sure this issue is dealt with in the revised manuscript before print publication.

Interactive comment on Atmos. Chem. Phys. Discuss., 6, 1385, 2006.

Full Screen / Esc

Printer-friendly Version

Interactive Discussion

Discussion Paper