First, the authors thank the editor and the two anonymous reviewers for their helpful detailed comments and technical suggestions on our manuscript from the submission process to the final step of the whole process and for their encouragement to improve the paper for publication in ACP journal. (refer to the acknowledgements)

All suggested modifications about technical comments from last reports (3 June 2016) of the editor and the two referees are included in the new version of the manuscript.

Yours sincerely,
Fabrice Chane Ming
