

Interactive comment on “Climatic and extreme weather variations over Mountainous Jammu and Kashmir, India: Physical explanations based on observations and modelling” by Sumira N. Zaz et al.

R. Dar

reyazsopore@gmail.com

Received and published: 11 June 2018

The study has been undertaken in a well defined pattern where first local temperature and precipitation has been understood and then validated and predicted with the down-scaled WRF model and then finding its linkages with the local topography and global phenomena. My suggestion in this regard would be to run the WRF model at least up to 2018 so that further insight into the phenomena will be understood.

Interactive comment on Atmos. Chem. Phys. Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/acp-2018-201>,
C1

2018.