

Interactive comment on “On the role of the south Pacific subtropical high at the onset of El Niño events” by Youjia Zou and Xiangying Xi

Youjia Zou and Xiangying Xi

marscar@126.com

Received and published: 14 August 2018

Dear colleague, sorry for lack of much more details because of space limited. We are currently doing a work showing the evolutions of the ECC in latitude in time in another paper, indicating that the eastward current along the equator is the shifted ECC, rather than a reversed SEC. Regretably, it is not possible to add more in this manuscript.

Your understanding is much appreciated!

Best Regards

Authors

Interactive comment on Atmos. Chem. Phys. Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/acp-2018-82>,

C1

2018.

C2