

Response to comments by community # 1

1.What causes the difference in the diurnal variation of NO_x and SO₂?

Response: The differences in diurnal cycle of SO₂ and NO_x were attributed to emissions, meteorological and chemical processes. However, the major reason for the differences in all seasons in this study should be ascribed to apparent different emission sources of these two trace gases.